

TRANSFORMING HEART FAILURE INTO HEART SUCCESS!

Let us introduce you to the Pathways program that can help patients with Heart Failure be Heart Successes!

Some homebound patients need the support of Home Health to be successful at heart failure management. Our nurses have specialty training in heart failure to support patients during that vulnerable period between an acute episode and independence. With our coaching, patients transition from being cared for to caring for themselves.

Our program targets:

- Medication reconciliation and management
- Self care, such as a low sodium diet, daily weights and increased exercise
- Teaching “red flags” to watch for and report
- The importance of follow-up visits to health care providers

We use plain language, a simple personal health record, careful monitoring, and lots of teaching to help patients achieve their healthcare goals. Our program is patient-centered, with patients and their families actively participating in their care. Our care can prevent re-hospitalization by teaching patients how to avoid heart failure hazards.

We inspire in our patients the confidence to manage their heart health independently!

You want the best for your patients—so do we. When you make a referral to Pathways Home Health, ask to have an evaluation for our Heart Failure program so we can make your patient a HEART SUCCESS!
